The number of required solar panels depends on the average energy consumption of your household and the power rating of the panels. For instance, if your house consumes 900 kWh per month, around 20-25 panels (300-400W each) are needed. Factors like sunlight availability and panel efficiency also influence this calculation.

Sunlight strikes solar panels, generating direct current (DC) power that is either converted to alternating current (AC) for immediate use or directed into a battery for storage. This stored DC power is later converted to AC on demand, such as during the night or power outages, ensuring a continuous energy supply.
